Jason Myers
Chief Operating Officer
Roach, Moss and Hall

Dear Jason,

Thank you for entrusting us with the search for your next Chief Financial Officer. This letter sets out the terms on which we will conduct that search for Roach, Moss and Hall, and it records in writing what we discussed when we last met. We take a retained mandate as a partnership, and we like to begin with everything stated plainly between us. Please read what follows. If any part of it does not match your understanding, call me before you sign.

The Search We Will Run

You are looking for a Chief Financial Officer who can carry the finance function of Roach, Moss and Hall through its next stage of growth. Our work is to find that person, to test them thoroughly, and to bring you a short slate you can act on with confidence. We conduct the search on a retained basis. That means we work only for you on this mandate and give it our full attention until the seat is filled. Discretion runs through everything we do. We describe prospective candidates to you by their current role and record rather than by name, and we hold names in confidence until both sides are ready to meet.

In practice the assignment moves through a handful of clear stages, and I want you to know the shape of it from the start.

- We agree the position specification with you and your board, so that we are all searching for the same person.
- We map the market, build a long list from that map, and approach prospects with care and discretion.
- We interview and assess in depth, then bring you a short slate described by fit and evidence, not by name alone.
- We stay with you through client interviews, references, and the offer, and we do not step back until your new Chief Financial Officer has accepted and started.

The People on Your Account

I will oversee the engagement personally and remain your point of contact whenever you want one. Sandra Fuentes, a Principal in our search practice, will lead the assignment day to day and own the relationship with you and with every candidate she brings forward. James Grant, one of our senior consultants, will work the market at the most senior level and lend his judgment on the finalists. Jeffrey Patterson, our research consultant, keeps the search moving and will be the one who confirms schedules and closes the small loops, so that nothing goes quiet on you. You will find us easy to reach.

Our Fee and When We Begin

For a retained search of this kind we work to a fixed professional fee of $92,000, which covers the assignment in full from the specification through to a completed placement. The fee is not tied to the candidate's eventual compensation. You know the cost of the search at the outset, and it does not move as the search does. We are ready to begin on August 27, 2015, once this letter is signed and returned, and we will hold that date for you.

Fees and Payment

We bill the fixed fee in three stages tied to the milestones of the assignment: at your signing of this letter, at the delivery of the short slate, and on your chosen candidate's acceptance of an offer. Invoices are payable on receipt. Reasonable direct expenses that we arrange at your request, such as candidate travel, are billed at cost and set out in full, and we will clear anything out of the ordinary with you before we commit to it.

Term and Ending the Engagement

The engagement runs from the date you sign until the search is completed and our final invoice is settled. Either of us may end it earlier, in writing, and we ask for the courtesy of a short conversation first so that nothing ends on a misunderstanding. If you close the search early for a reason unrelated to our work, we will bill for the stage in progress and no further. If a Chief Financial Officer we place leaves you within the first year for reasons within our control, we will reopen the search once at no additional fee.

Confidentiality

We treat what you share with us, and everything we learn in the course of the search, as confidential, and we use it only for this assignment. Within our office, access is limited to the people named above and to those whose work on the search requires it. We extend the same discretion to candidates. We do not disclose a prospect's interest to anyone outside your committee without their knowledge, and we describe them by their role rather than their name until you are ready to meet. Discretion is not a courtesy in our work. It is the condition that lets good people talk to us at all.

Limitation of Liability

We give this search our best professional judgment, but the choice of whom to hire is finally yours, and we cannot warrant the future performance of any person you appoint. Our liability to you arising out of this engagement, whether framed in contract or in negligence, will not exceed the total fees you pay us under it, save in the case of our own fraud or willful misconduct. Neither of us will be liable to the other for indirect or consequential loss.

Governing Law

This agreement is governed by the law of the state in which our office sits, without regard to its conflict-of-laws rules. Should a dispute arise, we will each make a genuine effort to settle it in conversation before either of us turns to any other forum.

If these terms read as we agreed, please sign both copies where indicated below, keep one for your file, and return the other to me. That single step is all we need to begin. If anything here gives you pause, call me first and we will settle it before you sign. We are glad to be doing this with you.

With warm regards,

Kelly Chavez
