Dear Kelly Klein:

Thank you for the confidence you and your colleagues at Vance and Sons have placed in our firm. This letter confirms the terms on which Gladepoint Strategies LLC will conduct a market entry assessment for Vance and Sons. It becomes effective when signed by both of us below.

The assessment will answer three questions: which adjacent markets deserve your attention, what it would take to compete in each, and how entry should be sequenced. We will ground the answers in interviews with your commercial team, conversations with customers and distributors, and our own analysis of market size and competitive position. You will receive a written assessment, a recommended entry sequence, and the supporting analysis in full, presented to your executive team at the close of the work.

Caroline Mayo, a Principal of the firm, will lead the engagement and be your day-to-day counterpart. She will be supported by Jeff Pope, Engagement Manager, who will run the workplan and keep your office informed, and John Johnson, Senior Analyst, who will build the market and financial analysis. I will stay close to the work and will read every deliverable before it reaches you.

We intend to keep the effort light on your organization. Jeff will agree a single point of contact and a standing weekly call with your office, and we will ask for data once, in writing, rather than piecemeal. Our fee for the engagement is a fixed $45,500, inclusive of professional time, with reasonable travel expenses billed at cost. We propose to begin work on February 4, 2022 and expect the assessment to run approximately four months from that date.

We do not take on a new client relationship lightly, and we are glad to be starting this one. If the terms above match your understanding, please sign where indicated and return a copy to my attention. We look forward to the work.
